The First Section ★ Since 1941

November 9, 2016

Dear Attendees, Exhibitors and Guests,

On behalf of all of us here at Chicago Section IFT let me welcome you to Chicago and the 2016 Chicago Section IFT Suppliers' Night!

We are pleased to be celebrating our 54th Supplier's Night since the inception of the Chicago Section. From just eleven exhibitors at our first event to 540 exhibitors and 3,000+ attendees today, the CSIFT Suppliers' Night has grown to become a "must do" event on the calendar of the U.S. food industry. We are pleased you could join us here today.

Whether you're interested in starting your own business or considering doing so in the future you won't want to miss "Insights from Food Entrepreneurs". Our panel will be covering all aspects of starting your own business, from the initial concept to the financial end and more. Learn from those who have recognized a need, identified a gap, and took the initiative to start their own business.

"Innovation Insights & Consumer Trends: 2015 Dietary Guidelines for American" follows next. As nutrition guidelines evolve to reflect the latest nutrition science, food R&D leaders and marketers face both challenges and opportunities. This session will look at the cross-section of dietary guidance with consumer trends and values, the short and long-term innovation opportunities afforded by the 2015 DGAs and highlight trends of what consumers are actually doing with the DGA recommendations.

Josh Schonwald is our keynote speaker presenting "FutureFood: Today's Innovation, Tomorrow's Dinner". Josh is an award-winning journalist who has specialized in researching the future of food and agriculture for the past decade. He was a consulting editor for IFT's "FutureFood 2050" website and is a consulting producer on the forthcoming documentary "Food Evolution. Schonwald's work has appeared in the New York Times, Washington Post and Time.Com, The Evanston-based writer is the author of "The Taste of Tomorrow: Dispatches from the Future of Food", a critically-acclaimed look at the trends and technologies that could reshape the future of agriculture.

The Expo will begin at noon and run through 5:30PM. Once again we have 540 exhibitors today offering the technologist the latest in leading food ingredients, processing technologies, laboratory equipment and other services. Supplier's Night will conclude with our Social Hour from 5:30 to 6:30 PM. Please take a moment to gather with us in the registration area to socialize with peers, enjoy the refreshments and bring Suppliers' Night to a close. Now, Go Enjoy The Show!

Sincerely,

James N. Anderson

Happy Birthday Blueberries

The highbush blueberry has come a long way thanks to the forward thinking and innovative determination of Elizabeth C. White and Frederick V. Coville. We salute these blueberry pioneers and celebrate 100 years of growing goodness. Our blueberry growers thank you for the support!

Lady Farmer Elizabeth White collaborated with Coville on her farm in Whitesbog, NJ, and is the founder of the commercial highbush blueberry business. • USDA Researcher Frederick Coville studied the highbush blueberry on his research plot at what is now the south parking lot of the US Pentagon. Coville was a driving force in the development of the highbush blueberry. • After years of collaboration Elizabeth White and Frederick Coville succeeded in developing highbush blueberries from the most promising native bushes in New Jersey's Pinelands. They propagated the best of the best.

In 1916 White brought the first commercial delivery of blueberries to market.

The world loves highbush blueberries!

Today more than 700 million pounds of highbush blueberries are produced annually in North America. Production flourishes in 33 states, two provinces of Canada, Mexico and around the world.

- Highbush blueberries comprise 86% of all blueberries grown in the United States and 70% of North American blueberry production.
- Fresh blueberries are a superstar of the produce section and available throughout the year.
- Highbush blueberries are produced in a range of formats -- fresh, frozen, puree, concentrate, dehydrated and more.
- Ingredient use of highbush blueberries continues with hundreds of new products introduced each year. Besides traditional items, new categories are growing, such as pet foods and natural cosmetics.
- Scientific research continues to document health benefits. Visit our online blueberry research database: www.blueberrytech.org
- Highbush blueberries are an excellent choice. Consistent supply + consumer demand = opportunities
